

Inasmuch as there are many different types of hearings, such as those relating to grievances, student expulsion, budgets, etc. the Board of Education and their Superintendent should consult the school attorney to insure that statutory and contractual requirements are met, and that basic due process is afforded as required.

REF. Education law - 3214

Date of Manual Adoption: July, 1998
Johnson City Central School District, Johnson City, New York