

In the event of threatening messages, the telephone operator or other party receiving the threat will immediately notify the principal or the Superintendent. Established procedures, which are of a classified nature, shall be followed.

The safety of students is the prime consideration of the authorized procedures. However, schools will not necessarily be evacuated or classes dismissed as a result of threatening messages.